POPULATION AND HOUSING ESTIMATE METHODOLOGY

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This is the seventh annual small area population and housing estimates report that the Planning Commission has published since the Census 2000 count. The annual estimates are an ongoing portion of the Planning Commission’s research program. The 2007 estimates report is the result of much editing of key fields impacting population calculation and the first attempt to geocode all residential Hillsborough County building permits issued from 2000 through early 2007.

Historical annual population estimates were revised based upon improvements found during the geocoding process. Please note that the 2006 estimates published here vary from last year’s published estimates.

According to April 1, 2007 Estimates:

- Hillsborough County has 1,204,750 residents.
- The addition of 31,780 residents from 2006 to 2007 is slightly less than the revised increase from 2005 to 2006 (33,460 residents).
- Since the 2000 Census, the jurisdictions have gained the following number of residents:

Jurisdiction	2000-07 Net New Residents
City of Tampa	38,610
City of Plant City	4,340
City of Temple Terrace	3,180
Unincorporated County	159,670
Total Hillsborough	205,800

- The small cities of Plant City and Temple Terrace have added an average of 620 and 450 persons per year, respectively, from 2000 to 2007.
- The following are the top ten census tracts in absolute population growth from 2006 to 2007:

Census Tract	Population Growth	Area	Census Tract	Population Growth	Area

2007 HOUSING INVENTORY

The 2007 housing inventory is the sum of the Census 2000 housing counts and the net change in Hillsborough County's housing inventory between April 1, 2000 and March 31, 2007. Certificates of Occupancy issued to new residential units by the four building departments in Hillsborough County (Tampa, Plant City, Temple Terrace and Unincorporated County) are matched with the Planning Commission's database of residential building permits.

The Certificate of Occupancy issue dates are used to time the addition of new housing units to the housing inventory. The "date of issue" of a residential demolition permit is the date used to subtract a housing unit from the housing inventory. The net housing unit change from 2000 to 2007 is combined with the 2000 Census housing unit count to create the 2007 housing inventory for each of the 249 census tracts within Hillsborough County. Of the 249 whole census tracts within Hillsborough County, 32 tracts are split between two or more jurisdictions.

2007 POPULATION ESTIMATES

The base information used to derive the 2007 population estimates is the 2007 estimated housing inventory by type of housing unit. The Census 2000 occupancy rates and persons per household ratios by housing type and census tract are applied to the change in housing units by housing type and census tract from 2000 to 2007. The only exception to the occupancy ratio application is for apartment units completed during the previous year. An occupancy rate of 60 percent is used to reflect normal occupancy conditions in new higher density developments. Group quarter population, updated to April 1, 2007, is added to population in housing units to derive total population.

Occupancy Rates

Households, defined as occupied housing units, are estimated in the process of producing population estimates.

$$HH07 = HU07 * OCR$$

Where HH07 = April 1, 2007 Households by housing type and tract
HU07 = April 1, 2007 Housing inventory by type and tract
OCR = April 1, 2000 Occupancy rate by type and tract

Source: The Planning Commission

The detailed housing type occupancy rates for each census tract in Hillsborough County are available from the 2000 Census Summary File 3. The tract occupancy rate by housing type is multiplied by the estimated housing unit increase by housing type to establish the number of new households by housing type in each census tract. The Planning Commission summarizes household estimates by the following housing types: single family detached, single family attached, apartment and mobile home. Apartment households are calculated by using the Census 2000 apartment occupancy rates for all units completed after 2000, with the exception of units completed during the previous year which are assigned an occupancy rate of 60 percent.

Population per Household

The historical decline in population per household (pph) ratios was observed for many years in the United States, Florida and Hillsborough County. Using pph data from the 1980 and 1990 Census, the pph value for Hillsborough County in the year 2000 was projected to be 2.46 persons per household. The actual pph value from Census 2000 for Hillsborough County was 2.51, a difference of .05 from the projected value. The 2000 total county pph of 2.51 was the same value derived from the 1990 Census which indicates that the local pph decline has stopped. Thus, we assume that the local Census 2000 pph ratios are also the current local pph ratios. It is assumed that the 2000 Census pph equates to persons per housing unit.

Calculating the Final Estimate

The Census 2000 persons per household (pph) by housing unit type for each census tract is multiplied by the 2000 to 2007 housing unit change by type and by census tract to calculate the household population change. The Census 2000 household population is added to the 2000 to 2007 change figure resulting in total 2007 household population. The Census 2000 group quarter population, plus newly permitted group quarter entities since 2000, is added to the 2007 household population by census tract creating a total 2007 population estimate.
